Risk Reminder to AEEI Investors

This is a risk reminder to our respectable investors around the world.

You may have noticed the latest SEC regulation.

The Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) amended Rule 15c2-11 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 on September 15, 2020. It asks an Over-the-Counter (OTC) listed stock to present transparent financial information to protect the investors — to complete the filing with SEC. It also regulates how broker-dealers initiate or resume pricing quotations for certain securities traded in the OTC markets. OTC Markets have policies to respond the change. TD Ameritrade also reminds us of the risk of liquidation and transaction.

We noticed the requirements and are trying our best to find the right CPA and PCAOB to solve the problem by September 28, 2021. We are also contacting SEC about the application for an extension by both phone calls and emails and asked the administrator what we can do if we can't find qualified and affordable CPA and PCAOB agent to help on time. In one word, we are not sure the filing can be completed by the deadline of Sept. 28, 2021, nor sure that the approval of extension by SEC will be permitted. This is the risk of the stock.

As you know, AEEI experienced a long, long hard time. It has not filed the regular annual and quarterly financial statements from 2003 — almost 18 years. The reasons are far more than pandemic. However, we began to restart the business from the end of this April. We have tried M&As from February 2018 to date but they are NOT so easy to satisfy both parties so I got my AEEI shares back which were transferred to the owner of the target combination business and from the potential partner. We have a vision to start from our Department of Investment regardless of the acquisition status — assume no M&A opportunity by the end of 2021. Therefore, AEEI has to grow up by itself. For more details, our website www.1aeei.com provides the latest information about the company.

Once again, we remind you of the risk of the investment in our stock.

If you keep with us, it may be from a very small business that is full of uncertainty in the future.

At present, the No.1 task is to complete the filing with SEC.
